Rudy Syzmanek Resigns on Council

Coleman council expressed concern at its meeting Tuesday, regarding the fact that the town's application to have the work on the sewerage system put on a winter works program was turned down when a neighboring town's application for the same work was approved. A letter has been drafted and sent to the proper authorities asking why the application has not been approved.

Council accepted with regret the resignation of Councillor Rudy Syzmanek, who tendered his resignation due to personal reasons.

Arrangement for an election to fill the balance of Mr. Syzmanek's term (one year) is to be looked after by the secretary immediately.

Complaints of poor television reception in the Crows Nest Pass district is prompting the council to take steps into trying to get an alternate station to come in and service the area. Council will start a number of inquiries regarding this matter.

Council received a letter from Fort Macleod asking Coleman to support a move to try to get a vocational school in Macleod to serve Southern Alberta rather than have the school go north of the Macleod district. Council felt that such a unit would serve Southern Alberta better if it were built in the Crows Nest Pass or Pincher Creek, as the present school in Lethbridge is as easily accessible as one that would be built in Macleod.

Fire Chief Henry Zak was present and reported to council that the brigade now had a strength of 19 men and that the brigade was functioning very capably.

Requests for some badges, hats, a flasher light for the top of the truck and an extra oxygen tank were approved.

Permission was granted to Sister Leo Agnes to open up a used clothing store for the Crows Nest Pass Family Service Bureau. The store is to be located in the premises formerly occupied by Koskida & Sons, west of Abousky's store.

The Centennial committee is to be requested to present their suggestion for a Centennial project for Coleman by November 23rd as deadline for application for the Centennial grant is December 31. Coleman's grant is approximately $3400.00.

Secretary Trevor Collister is to investigate the cost of insurance to cover the town's gas utility lines and equipment.

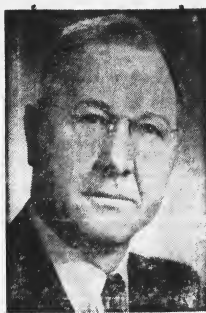

Permission was granted to Harold Nelson to use the west 50 feet of avenue near the Kananaskis Service Station to park cars in winter. Electric outlets for block heaters are to be installed on his garage for the miners using this parking facility for their cars while at work.

Applications of four local men were read for work on the town crews, and council agreed to hire two of the applicants.

The UMW is to be advised that council has approved the street on the east side of Vets' Insurance as a parking place for the miners' bus.

Council approved the Old Man River Planning Commission budget.

The Chinook Health Unit reported that water samples taken in Coleman had been tested and were good.

Adolf Trotz Injured

Adolf Trotz was rushed to the C.N.P. hospital on Nov. 12th to be treated for injuries he sustained while at work.

Mr. Trotz sustained a fractured pelvis and internal injuries when the rock wagon he was driving for Coleman Collieries at the Tent Mountain Strip Mine flipped over and he was thrown out.

Legion Services Remembrance Day Well Attended

Cold, wintry weather did not hinder a well attended Armistice Day parade and service in Coleman on November 11.

The parade formed in the Central school yard and under the direction of Parade Marshal Norman Hammer, marched off at 1 p.m. Headed by a Legion Color Party the parade included the Crows Nest Pass Band under Bandmaster Frank Edl, Legion members, Veterans, Cadets, Cubs, Scouts and Brownies.

On arrival at the Cenotaph the parade broke off and an impressive service was conducted.

Stirring addresses were given by Mayor John Holyk and Rev. W. Krewski of the Holy Ghost Catholic Church, and Mr. Peter Walker, minister of St. Paul's United Church.

Wreaths were then placed on the Cenotaph by representatives of various organizations as well as private individuals. Fred Beddington took charge of the flag at the Cenotaph, while Capt. Mark Venier took charge of the Cadets firing party.

After the service a social hour was held in the Legion club rooms where the Cadets, Brownies, Cubs and Scouts were treated to refreshments. A social for adults was held later in the day.

Lions Entertain Phillips Personnel

Roy Newburg, plant manager of Phillips Cables, starting that it was the second cable plant in North America, and had started in Montreal at the turn of the century. He said the company now have five plants across Canada, and fabricate two types of cable—power cable and communications cables.

In the communications wire field two types of wire are fabricated, which are inside plant wire and outside plant wire, the latter being the type produced at the Sentinel plant.

With the aid of a series of colored slides, Mr. Newburg described in detail how the cables are made, wrapped with paper, insulated against moisture with plastic and put together in cables, carrying up to and over 1200 pairs of wires. Each pair of wires is color coded, and so many pairs are again wrapped together and color coded again to facilitate checking for flaws.

Mr. Newburg explained how moisture is removed from the cables and how they are tested and checked for flaws or leaks and how repairs are made.

Several types of cable that are fabricated at the Sentinel plant were displayed by Mr. Newburg.

A question period was held with Mr. Newburg responding to all queries.

Lions Club president, Orazio Celli extended the thanks of the club and the guests to Mr. Newburg for the very interesting talk.

Silver Anniversary Is Marked

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rejman were pleasantly surprised when over 200 of their friends gathered in the Elks hall on November 6th and honored the couple on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

Following the banquet, Chairman John Binda called on Rev. W. Krewski, who, on behalf of all present, expressed best wishes to the couple. Mrs. J. (Irene) Ondrus, representing the gathering, called on the couple and presented them with a silver tray and a purse of money, for which Mr. Rejman expressed appreciation. An evening of dancing was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Rejman were married in the Holy Ghost Catholic Church in Coleman on October 29, 1940, by Rev. Leo Sullivan, former parish priest.

The couple have three sons at home and one daughter, Mrs. B. Fowle of Calgary.

Defensive Driving Vital To Road Safety

"Like any other country, Canada has its share of irresponsible drivers," said W. Arch Bryce, executive director of the Canadian Highway Safety Council. "The test protection a driver can take against these menaces is to anticipate their antics and avoid them before they create a crash."

Mr. Bryce cautioned motorists to be constantly on the alert for the motorist who switches lanes or makes turns without signalling, tail-gates, drives far beyond a safe speed, or, conversely, dawdles at speeds too slow. "Too many thoughtless ones," he said, "start to change lanes without making certain the way is clear. Others dart out from curb parking spaces blindly, or jam on their car's brakes without warning. Watch for them, and get out of their way."

Mr. Bryce said: "If you feel strongly about such drivers and seriously want to do something about them, don't try to educate them while you drive. Rather become active in a road safety project such as the promotion of driver education, periodic vehicle examination or stronger laws to control the drinking driver."

He mentioned Safe Driving Week, the Council's annual road safety alertness campaign, as a good time to begin such action. The campaign will be observed across Canada from December 1st to the 7th this year.

Social Insurance Number

The Unemployment Insurance Commission said today that the current registration for the Canada Pension Plan is apparently leading many Canadians who already have a Social Insurance Number to apply for a second one. The Commission emphasized that the one number provides identity for both Canada Pension Plan and unemployment insurance purposes, and that the individual must not have more than one number.

Those who apply more than once may be building up future difficulties for themselves in regard to payments from either or both plans. They may find that they have created more than one "account" for their contributions and thus have trouble obtaining their full entitlement when the time comes to obtain benefits.

The UIC noted that every effort is made to avoid assigning more than one number to an individual. However, when the particulars given on one application are not identical to those given on an earlier application, a second number will be issued.

For the individual who already has more than one Social Insurance Number the Commission says the solution is simple. He should report the problem to the nearest UIC office, bringing with him, or mailing, all the Social Insurance Number Cards in his possession. The Commission will cancel the later number or numbers and supply a new Social Insurance Number card if the original one has been misplaced.

While it is an offence for a person to knowingly apply for more than one number, it is recognized that most multiple applications are made inadvertently. The Commission stressed that its immediate interest is to have those who contribute to either the Canada Pension Plan or unemployment insurance to do so under one—and only one—Social Insurance Number.

Centennial Caravan To Tour Canada

An eight-trailer Centennial Caravan, one of eight such caravans, which will be touring Canada during 1967, will spend six months touring Alberta, the Northwest Territories and the Yukon, bringing to residents the story of Canada from the earliest times up to the present.

Each Caravan unit will be composed of eight trailer units and tractors which will be set up in a special pattern on exhibit sites. Seven of the trailers will contain a continuous story display, while the eighth will be a service unit. There will be a central exterior exhibit area, as well, which will contain regional displays.

Caravan No. 7 will enter Alberta at Milk River on May 1, 1967, and will terminate its tour at Drumheller on Tuesday, November 2, 1967. It will travel 8039 miles, and will make 95 exhibit stops, 81 of these in Alberta. Sites at each of the stops have been surveyed and approved. Stops in the Crow's Nest Pass are as follows:

May 10th, Blairmore, and May 11th at Coleman.
Both the Federal Centennial

Commission and the Alberta Centennial committee have expressed the hope that communities which will be visited by the Centennial Caravan will use this as an event around which to centre other Centennial activities.

The Caravan will be equipped with stage areas and facilities for the presentation of local programs featuring folk singers and dancers, bands, orchestral groups, drama or pageant presentations, during its visit to each community.

Inside the trailers, many modern electronic and film techniques will be introduced to aid the telling of the story of Canada, and it is hoped that the viewers will enjoy an experience unlike any they have had before and emerge with a new awareness of their Canadian identity.

NOTICE

A Statement To All Residents of The Lethbridge Junior College Area

The Lethbridge Junior College Board wishes to inform all residents of the College Area that it has consistently had the following objectives in its policy relating to the development of the Lethbridge Junior College:

(1) To promote Adult Education to meet academic, trade, cultural and general interest needs of all people who are not attending an educational institution. To this end, a Director of Adult Education was appointed July 1, 1965.

To develop Technical-Vocational programs which will equip young and older people with marketable skills. A Director of Technical-Vocational Education has been in charge as from June, 1962.

To promote university transfer programs with the goal of developing the University Section to become a degree-granting institution as soon as the number of students warrants such a move. Second-year university courses began in September, 1965. A Dean has been in charge of this section as from May, 1967.

and further

To broaden the undergraduate program with respect to additional courses and faculties and to develop a graduate school in the Biological Sciences as conditions warrant in the College area and in Alberta generally.

The largest white diamond, the Cullinan (3106 carats), was found in South Africa.

More Cars, More Crashes

(Victoria Daily Times)

At the end of May, according to figures just released, the number of British Columbia car owners passed the half million mark—526,795.

This is a significant increase over the 491,548 registered at the corresponding date last year. It is, moreover, paralleled by the higher number of commercial vehicles this year—113,549 compared to 104,487.

Many interpretations can be placed on the current totals. They may represent increased prosperity, rising population or easier availability of automobiles.

One of the important, and inescapable facts that must be noted, however, is that the increase carries with it a potential rise in the number of accidents we may expect in 1965. This is the inevitable accompaniment of more traffic unless drivers increase the care with which they drive to a degree at least commensurate with the rise in the number of cars on the road.

The situation leaves before drivers a clear alternative.

Do they accept as unpreventable a higher toll in highway crashes because more people are using cars? Or do they improve their driving and exercise greater caution to prove that more crashes do not have to occur?

The appointment of J. R. D. Findlay, 37, broadcast & advertising executive, to the post of Centennial Co-ordinator for the province of Alberta, was announced today by the Hon. A. Holowach, Alberta Provincial Secretary. The appointment is effective immediately.

Mr. Findlay will manage and direct Centennial programs and activities for which the Alberta Centennial committee is responsible, and encourage and promote Centennial programs and celebrations of all kinds by communities, businesses and voluntary private groups throughout the province.

His office, in the Legislative Building, will provide a co-ordinating service for Alberta's Centennial activities.

An Edmontonian, Mr. Findlay has been associated with local broadcast firms and with Edmonton advertising agencies in a variety of capacities. He was most recently with a Lloydminster television and radio company as station manager.

In his new capacity, Mr. Findlay will work under the direction of the Alberta Government Centennial committee, and bring together the endeavors and direction offered by national, provincial and municipal organizations to encourage the participation by all Albertans in Centennial observances.

Uses for left-over egg whites, yolks

If you have your heart set on preparing a recipe that calls for all egg whites or all egg yolks, don't despair, the left-over yolks or whites are useful in a variety of ways. Here are some suggestions for storing and using these important "left-overs" from the home economist. Consumer Section, the Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

For best quality, store left-over whites in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator. They may be held a week to ten days. Store left-over yolks in water in a covered container in the refrigerator. They may be held two or three days.

EGG YOLKS

Two yolks may be substituted for whole egg in custards. Left-over egg yolks may be added to whole eggs for egg-nogs, whole eggs for scrambling; to white sauce for thickening and for a rich color and flavor; to mashed stuffed potatoes; to confectioner's sugar frosting; to cream fillings; to cakes and pies.

Hard-cooked egg yolks may be pressed through a sieve. They add color and flavor to soups, sauces, casseroles, creamed vegetable and salads.

EGG WHITES

Left-over egg whites may be used for boiled and confectioner's sugar frostings; fruit whips and snow puddings; chiffon pies; white and angel food cakes; meringues, cookies and candy. They may also be used to glaze buns and pie pastry or as a dip when crumbling foods for frying.

Did you know that children, — some as young as two or three years old, can, and do, suffer from mental illness as severe and agonizing as any adults? Do you know what help there is, if any, for these little sufferers? You will be fascinated by the story of "Teddy's Secret World", in a free pamphlet available from the Canadian Mental Health Association 618 Revillon Building, Edmonton.

OF MANY THINGS (By Ambrose Hills)

How To Lose a Debate

A few weeks ago I wrote a column with which a reader violently disagreed. Fine, this is a free country.

However, this reader, before dealing with the argument itself, started his letter by demanding to know who I am, where I earn my pay and so forth. The implication was that because my ideas are different from his, I must be some kind of a subversive, a tool of communists or capitalists, — a low fellow indeed. It was clear that if he had the power to do so, he would drag me before some kind of inquisition and lay bare the secrets of my life, if any. His attack had all the earmarks of the technique made famous by McCarthy, the U. S. senator. Only after he had made this effort to imply that I am a no-goodnick did he try to deal with the argument I had presented.

When he got around to the argument itself, he proved to be a little more effective. But if I am any judge of human nature, he had lost his case before he got to the meat of the debate. I am quite confident that most intelligent readers had already written him off because of the vitriolic nature of his opening blast. Then, when his argument showed weak spots, they would at once see that had he been on surer ground, he would not have needed to put such faith in the personal attack.

Now it is altogether likely that the reader who blasted me is a good fellow at heart. I am not interested in knowing his residence, the size of his bank account, or the color of his eyes, his religion, or how he parts his hair. I am interested in his logic or lack of it relating to the matter debated, for there is a principle involved. He might prove me to be the worst kind of blackguard imaginable, but if in this instance I am espousing a right principle, the fact that I am a Conservative, Liberal, NDPer or Hottentot wouldn't change that fact. And if I erred in principle, then I'd still be wrong even if gold-plated halos circled my brow!

CPR Agents To Be Removed From 33 Stations

Inauguration of Canadian Pacific's expanded customer service in the Lethbridge division will be completed by November 30th, it was announced today by L. A. Hill, superintendent at Lethbridge.

Between November 12 and November 30, agents will be removed from 33 stations in the area and replaced by a customers' service centre in Lethbridge with free 24-hour telephone service to customers at all points, and a mobile force of six customer representatives using automobiles to make personal calls on patrons as required.

In addition, company personnel will be located at 31 of the 33 places from which the agents are being removed — caretakers who will protect undelivered shipments and provide light and heat in stations as required for passenger service at 21 locations; mobile representatives based at Blairmore, Claresholm, and Vulcan; operators required for train service at four places; and commission agents for merchandise services at three others.

The gradual extension of the service through the division over a three-week period will permit a smoother change-over, said Mr. Hill, and will proceed from one sub-division to another. Official notice of the change-over date has been posted in each station.

Authority for Canadian Pacific to inaugurate the new service was given in a ruling by the Board of Transport Commissioners on October 1 following public hearings at Lethbridge May 12 to 14.

Staff is now being selected and new equipment is being installed at the customers' service centre at Lethbridge station. Patrons outside Lethbridge will be able to dial long distance and ask for Zenith 0-7337 free of charge, and an elaborate telephone switchboard will channel their calls direct to specialists in the various company services — carload freight, merchandise services which handle less-than-carload freight and express shipments, railway, steamship and airline passenger services, telecommunications, and the reserve-a-room service of Canadian Pacific Hotels which can make reservations at hotels in all major centres.

Lethbridge customers will continue to call the local numbers listed in the Lethbridge telephone directory.

Equipment at the customers' service centre also will include a number of business machines and teletypes making up a data processing centre. The business machines, with their teletype circuits, are being programmed to provide facilities on a local, regional and system basis for mechanical billing, accounting and utilization of railway equipment.

Following is the schedule for closure of agencies in the Lethbridge division. At 5 p.m. November 12, agencies will be closed at Nobleford, Barons, Carmangay, Champion, Vulcan, Blackie, Mile, Picture Butte, Foremost, Stirling, Cardston, Magrath, Raymond, Milk River and Warner.

At 5 p.m. November 17, agencies will be closed at Bow Island, Burdett, Grassy Lake, Taber and Coaldale.

At 5 p.m. November 24, agencies will be closed at Granum, Claresholm, Staveland, Nanton, High River, Aldersyde and Okotoks.

At 4 p.m. November 30, agency at Pincher will be closed, followed at 5 p.m. the same day, the agencies at Coalhurst, Brocket, Cowley, Blairmore and Coleman.

The suggestion that tuberculosis was a disease which a sick person gave to a well person was made in ancient Rome by Varro, a physician of the time. He advanced the idea that there might be organisms too small to be seen which somehow could travel from person to person. More than 19 centuries passed before a German physician, Robert Koch, proved him right.

We hear a lot of 'happy' talk, as if all of us were entitled to a lifetime of happiness, all wrapped up like a box from the jewellers. We aren't, really, but we CAN learn how to EARN happiness. ## 37 million acres give Albertans room to grow

Over half the land area of Alberta is public land, protected and developed by the Department of Lands and Forests. Most of this public land has been set aside for forestry to protect the watershed, to ensure a sustained yield of timber and to provide recreational facilities. From time to time, protected land is made available for agricultural use, particularly in the Peace River district where large tracts of land are undergoing homestead development.

Lands are also made available for private development through public auction and agricultural farm sales, cultivation leases, grazing leases and special permits.

Alberta has all the requirements for tremendous growth and 37 million acres of room in which to carry out that growth in an orderly manner.
